fire and fantasy

Styled by Bordeaux Events

Carrie Barton and Matthew Skinner chose the Sanderling Inn in Duck, NC for their August 4 wedding in 2008. The bride is a dancer for the Jubilee show in Las Vegas and the groom is an Idaho firefighter, so Bordeaux Events was given the challenge to create an event that reflected the same excitement and sizzle.

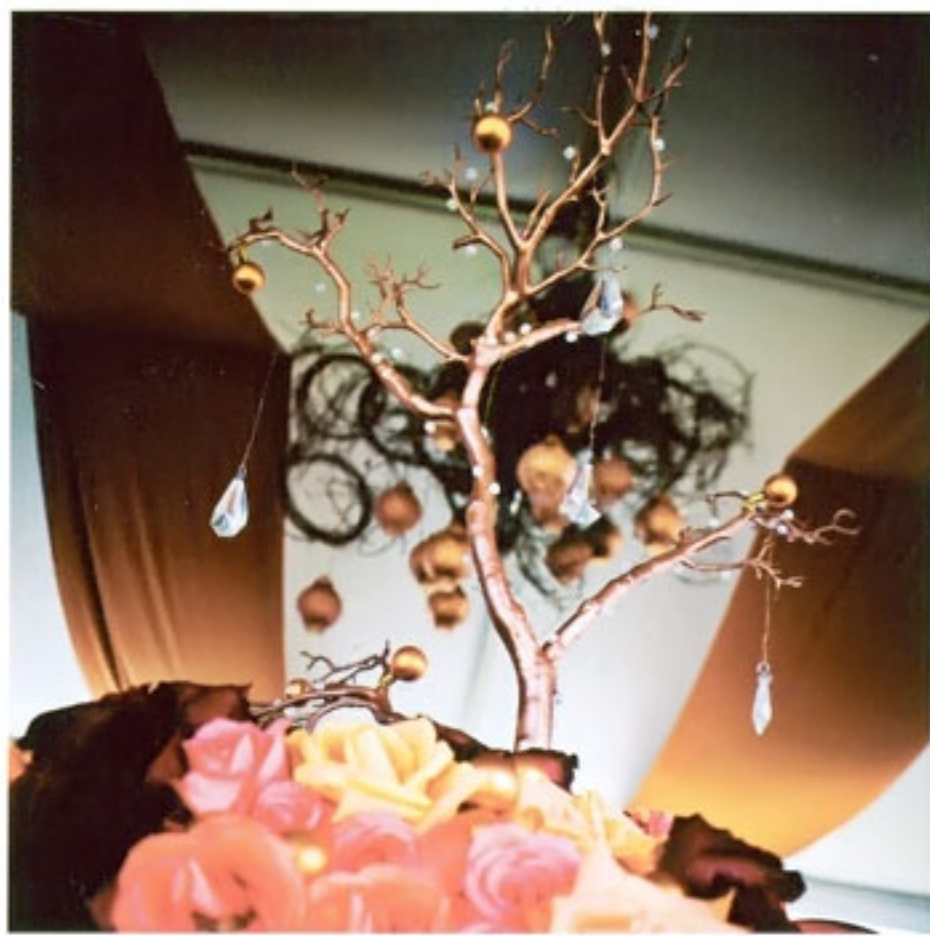

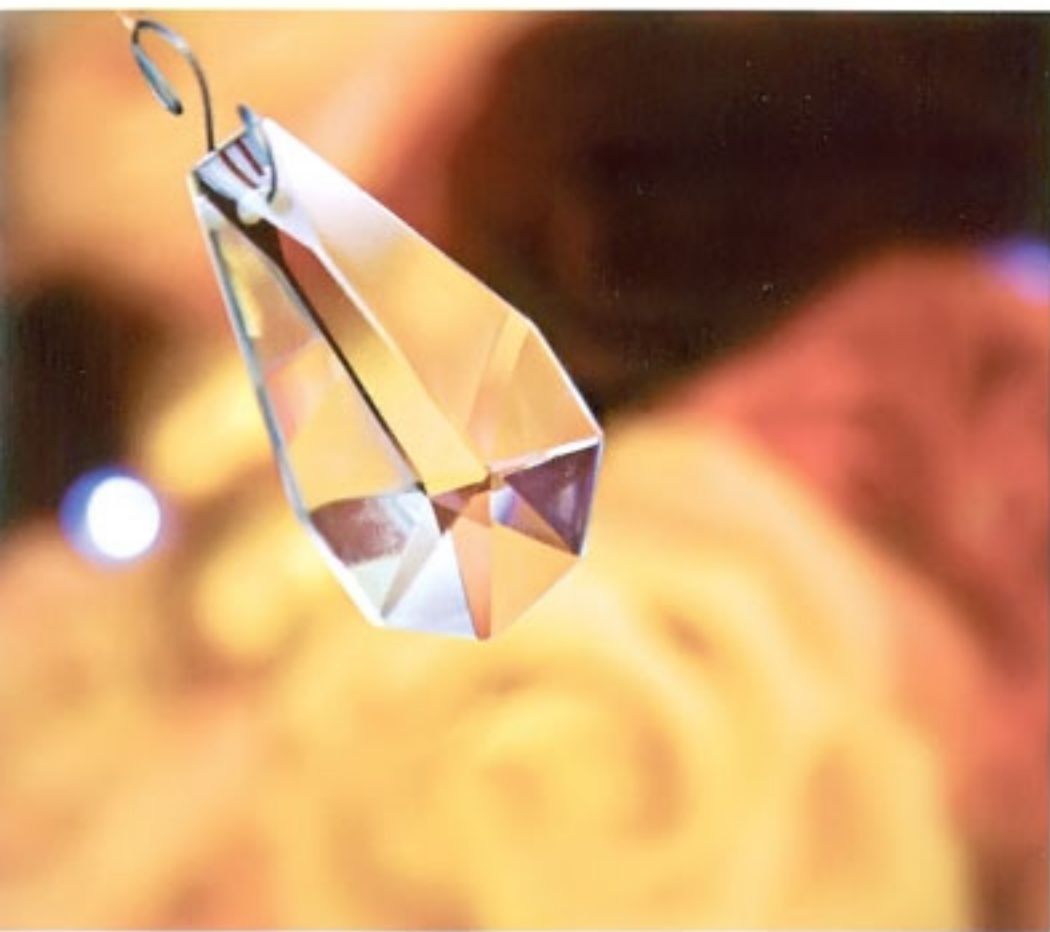

Clockwise from top: Long chains of crystal beads added bling to the fiery hued bouquets that decorated the ceremony. The hot colors were repeated in the candles and flowers that decked the long dining table at the reception.

Using a warm palette of red, orange and yellow helped turn up the heat. The addition of all the reflective surfaces really made the entire scene pop. The bride's bouquet was completely wrapped in faux diamonds to boost the sparkle. Reflective sequins were even added to the table flowers. The favors incorporated a little bit of both bride and groom. The dice, Las Vegas postcard and candy in the shape of Vegas slot machine coins reflected the bride while the firefighter pins represented the groom.

Glass danglers bejeweled the center pieces twinkling in the candlelight. Additional sequins gave the candles some extra sparkle. Silver wrappings around the pillar candles gave the cake table additional glamour.
